For the coming decade, we will continue working with contemporary artists, while giving equal attention to ancient objects, decorative arts, textiles and living craft traditions. We also plan to introduce a lecture series to our gallery's programme. This will complement our exhibitions to make the experience more meaningful and dynamic for our audiences.

This year's opening show, Tomorrow's Land by artist Vinod Balak, promises to be exceptional. This will be Balak's second solo exhibition at the gallery, where he will present large-format canvases, on which he paints idyllic, green landscapes of Kerala. But if you look carefully, you will see that these paintings are not so picturesque after all. His compositions comment on the contemporary human condition—one in which he weaves several spheres of culture and socio-politics into a singular space of dark humour.

Gallery Art Positive

We have a fantastic year ahead of us. We start with an exhibition of artworks by Dimpy Menon. We held the preview for this nature-inspired show outdoors, after which it moved to our gallery space in Lado Sarai. In the spring, we will host a group show curated by Pranamita Borgohain. Later in the year, we are planning for a folk art show curated by Georgina Maddox, followed by an exhibition of ceramics. Our annual exhibition will take place from August to December.

We love bringing artists together. The second edition of Two 2 Tango will showcase the remarkable works of Thota Vaikuntam and Paresh Maity. We also have exciting solo shows planned for the year, including sculptor Dhruva Mistry. We also plan to organise an art retreat for 20 of our artists, which will be followed by a display of their works.

In 2020, we are most excited about our participation in India Art Fair, followed by another art fair overseas: Our annual show, The Baroda March, will travel to New Delhi for the 13th year running! After a successful collaboration with a design house, we also hope to explore more opportunities in the coming months.
